Murder In G Major (A Gethsemane Brown Mystery Book 1)

Synopsis

âœCharming debut.â• âœ Kirkus ReviewsâœGordon strikes a harmonious chord in this enchanting spellbinder of a mystery.â• âœ Susan M. Boyer, USA Today Bestselling Author of Lowcountry Book ClubâœJust when you think youâ™ve seen everything, here comes Gethsemane Brown, baton in one hand, bourbon in the other. Stranded in an Irish village where she knows no one (but they all know her), sheâ™s got just six weeks to turn a rabblesome orchestra into award-winners and solve a decades-old murder to boot. And only a grumpy ghost to help her. Thereâ™s charm to spare in this highly original debut.â• âœ Catriona McPherson, Agatha Award-Winning Author of The Reek of Red HerringsâœGordonâ™s debut is delightful: An Irish village full of characters and secrets, whiskey and musicâœand a ghost! Gethsemane Brown is a fast-thinking, fast-talking dynamic sleuth (with a great wardrobe) who is more than a match for the unraveling murders and cover-ups, aided by her variousâœhandsomeâœallies and her irascible ghost. Canâ™t wait to see what she uncovers next!â• âœ Chloe Green, Author of the Dallas Oâ™Connor MysteriesâœA fast-paced drama that kept me engaged in all aspects in the telling of this multi-plot tale that was hard to put downâœThe windup to the conclusion had me quickly turning the pages as I had to know how this will play out and to the author, I say âœbravoâœbecause now I need to read the next book in this captivating series.â• âœ Druâ™s Book MusingsWith few other options, African-American classical musician Gethsemane Brown accepts a less-than-ideal position turning a group of rowdy schoolboys into an award-winning orchestra. Stranded without luggage or money in the Irish countryside, she figures any job is better than none. The perk? Housesitting a lovely cliffside cottage. The catch? The ghost of the cottageâ™s murdered owner haunts the place. Falsely accused of killing his wife (and himself), he begs Gethsemane to clear his name so he can rest in peace. Gethsemaneâ™s reluctant investigation provokes a dormant killer and she soon finds herself in grave danger. As Gethsemane races to prevent a deadly encore, will she uncover the truth or star in her own farewell performance?Related subjects include: cozy mysteries, women sleuths, murder mystery series, whodunit mysteries (whodunnit), British mysteries, book club recommendations, amateur sleuth books, paranormal mysteries, Irish cozies, ghost mysteries, music mysteries.Books in the Gethsemane Brown Mystery Series:âœMURDER IN G MAJOR (#1)Part of the Henery Press Mystery Series Collection, if you like one, you'll probably like them allâœ |

Customer Reviews

Gethsemane is a lost soul. She has lost her job, her fiance had a mistress, and the ghost in her current home is convinced that he was not guilty of his wifeâ™s murder or of his own suicide. Too make matters worse, she had six weeks to turn St. Brennanâ™s all male, middle school, orchestra into a championship team that must win the 75th Annual All-County School Orchestra Competition - an award they had not won since the inaugural competition - if the school was to get the grant they needed to rebuild their music performance hall and Gethsemane Brown was to keep her job. Though my description of the story above may sound convoluted, the author has done a very competent job of weaving the various threads into an enjoyable story that is neither boring nor simplistic. Additional murders accumulate like a rock collector gathers rocks. And, like in any well-written cozy mystery, the problems are all resolved. Except, as the final page is read, the reader is left unsure if Gethsemane Brown will keep her current job, we do not know what has happened to the friendly ghost that occupied her home, and what can we say about Frank, the math teacher, and Inspector Oâ™Reilly, the local cold case squad? As a maestra with talent, whose career seemed to about take off, Gethsemane Brown is ready for the big time. When she finds that the boyfriend who recruited her to conduct a major orchestra is already committed to his mistress, she finds herself stuck - stuck in a small, Irish, boys, school - for which she is neither trained or equipped. But with the help of â œIrishâ •, the ghost, she begins to move forward, both as she builds relationships with her students and as she solves the mystery surrounding the deaths of her ghost and his wife.
