I am in love with this book, it has become part of who I am. I had been partly closed up to spiritual things and this opened my heart. The heart of this book is positive and transcends barriers. It is a message of universal love for all. These positive spells are good for someone interested in being a witch or just a new age spiritual person. There is use of candles, incense, crystals, scrying tools, affirmations and spells, and various objects you may need. There are no pagan gods, or lore. This is just more of positive, self-affirmation ritual type spells. I personally like to take my time and do a spell right, and this asks for just that. The book is very simple to read and good for beginners. Some of the spells have optional items you may want to get, but I find half the fun of the spell is gathering items. This is a simply beautiful book that is just full of light. I do hope she writes a second book with more spells, but she does give you enough information you can go from to write your own. My favorite part is how she sets up the spells. Each are set up in a similar way. She recommends knowing well before when you will perform a spell and says she doesn't do them often. She lists the items you will need, the colors of candles, the best formation (she explains how to do the white light protection spell in an earlier chapter as well as casting a circle), the direction to face, the best moon phase, the best day/days of the week and then the optional magical enhancements are specific gemstones for the spell, types of incense to use, type of music, the "Before you start your spell list," the Affirmation to be read within the formation before you start the spell, "How to perform the spell.
